Sofia Mastrokoukou

Dr. Sofia Mastrokoukou is a co-founder of MYARTIST and a Research Fellow at the University of Piraeus. She has a PhD in Sociology from the University of Milano-Bicocca and holds various degrees, including an MSc in Public Policy and Social Change, a Laurea Magistrale in International Studies, a Master of Science in Educational and Psychological Methods, and a BA in Linguistics. She has worked as a junior researcher and proposal writer for EU-funded projects in Italy and as a Career and Education - Disability Advisor at the University of Piraeus. She has published articles, participated in conferences, and contributed to the development of a practical guide to international signing. She has also been selected for educational programs on sustainable development goals and gender equality by the UN and the International Labour Organisation. Her academic interests focus on quality management, teaching effectiveness in higher education, and comparative analysis of European disability legislation.